OF ECONOMICS IN
THE IMPERIAL UNIVERSITY OF KYOTO

NOTES.

An event deserving of special mention in the present Number is that Dr. Kinji Tajima retired from the professorship of the Kyoto Imperial University on his attainment of the age of sixty in September this year. He had been on the faculty of the University for many years, having been appointed to the staff of the former Law College at first. In fact, he held the seniority among the professors who were specialists in economics. Undoubtedly he has been of the greatest value in bringing the Department of Economics [which became independent of the Law College, and raised to a Department itself some few years later,] to its present condition of efficiency and prosperity. On the occasion of his retirement from the chair held by him, the title of Professor Emeritus of the Kyoto Imperial University was conferred upon him by Imperial order. The society of Political Economy of the Kyoto Imperial University issued a Special Number of the Keizai-Ronso in October this year in commemoration of his attainment of his sixtieth year, by way of perpetuating his distinguished services in the world of economic science. The Special Number contains the following articles:—
